We have a replacement for the 57th District, a good friend of mine, someone I've known for a while and have really gotten to know, not just for her heart, but her ability to transform her community, to lead for those who need it, Tracy Katz Muhl. Tracy, for those of you who don't know, is an attorney. She's been working on litigation, intellectual property issues. But more than that, I think, really is known for and passionate about education. She's served on her school board, District 28 in Northbrook, and really has been a... a passionate leader in her community. In particular, and I think most notably, for combatting gun violence in her community and the State of Illinois. So, she's going to be a terrific addition to all of us here today. We're going to give her a second to introduce herself, but, Ladies and Gentlemen, let's please give an amazing round of applause and welcome for Tracy Katz Muhl."

Speaker Hoffman: "Representative Katz Muhl."

Katz Muhl: "Thank you. I have to learn how to use the microphone. Thank you to Representative Morgan, who, as well as his family, have become great friends over the years since they moved back to the Northbrook area. It is my honor and privilege to be here today representing my hometown and home district, where my family has lived since I was three years old. I am incredibly excited to work with all of you to help share what I learned as a school board president, as Bob said, as a leader with Moms Demand Action as well as a member of a local health clinic and a believer in smart, sound budget. So, I can't wait to work with everybody. Will take some time to get over, introduce myself. But thank you, just so grateful and appreciative to be here."

Speaker Hoffman: "Welcome. Leader Hammond."

Hammond: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. A point of personal privilege."

Speaker Hoffman: "Please state your point."

Hammond: "Ladies and Gentlemen, I would like to introduce one of the newest Members on our side of the aisle, Representative Nicole La Ha. Nicole resides in Homer Glen with her husband and their two children. And you will find that Nicole is currently and always has been passionate about individual inclusivity and accessibility. And we look forward to working with her in the future. Thank you, Mr. Speaker."

Speaker Hoffman: "Representative La Ha."

La Ha: "It's with great humility and a deep sense of responsibility that I stand here before you all today as a new State Representative. I am tremendously honored to represent my amazing community and the wonderful people who live in the 82nd District. I am very passionate about accessibility and inclusivity, and that stems from me being a mom of a child that lives with disabilities. So, I'm able to see firsthand the challenges. I look forward to working with each and every one of you to create positive changes in Illinois, and I'm ready to serve."

Speaker Hoffman: "Welcome. Leader McCombie seeks recognition."

McCombie: "Point of personal privilege, please."

Speaker Hoffman: "Please state your point."

McCombie: "I would like to introduce another new Member. Our license plates get less and less here, folks. We have in the 104, replacing Leader Marron, we have Brandun Schweizer from... Schweizer from Danville. And he.. him and his wife live there with their three boys. And you have to meet this guy. He has a really interesting past and has served our country and is now going to continue to serve his country and his state and his hometown right here in the capital city. So, welcome to Brandun."

Speaker Hoffman: "Representative Schweizer."

Schweizer: "Thank you very much, Leader McCombie. I just want to say thank you to everybody for giving me this opportunity, and I look forward to working alongside everyone here. And I just want to take this opportunity to let you know I served my country for 21 years, and I still have that strong desire to want to serve. And so, I look forward to serving the 104th District down here and representing them. Thank you very much."

West: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Point of personal privilege."

Speaker Hoffman: "Please state your point."

West: "If y'all don't mind to give me 60 seconds, I just want to share something with y'all. As you know, first off, happy new year, but as last weekend was Martin Luther King weekend, and this week... this year in my district, we... we did the MLK State of the Mind Address. Essentially, a lot of us here, we saw what happened during the civil rights movement in black and white, in pictures and in... in videos, but we... we saw the... the firehoses, we saw the dog attacks, but we never put voice to the mentality of what the people were going through, the trauma that people went through. And what trauma is, if you don't put voice to it, your body... you start to behave a different way. Maybe that's why some of us in here are so mean. That was a joke. But what I want to make sure that we are in a position, with 30 more seconds left, is that we are in a position here in... in General Assembly to help those with trauma to put voice to their trauma. That's the only way we can become a better state. So, I just want to thank everyone for all that they've done and make sure we are in a position with our legislation to help the people with individual trauma, collective trauma, and corporate trauma through our Bills. And then... then that will help us to be effective in our individual lives and as a state. So, thank you, Mr. Speaker, for this time."

Speaker Hoffman: "Representative Halbbrook."

Halbrook: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. A point of personal privilege, please."

Speaker Hoffman: "Please state your point."

Halbrook: "Thank you. Ladies and Gentlemen of the House, today is National Religious Freedom Day. Each year, the National Religious Freedom Day commemorates the day in Virginia statute for religious freedom that was signed January 16, 1786. Each year, by presidential proclamation, January 16 is declared Religious Freedom Day. Thomas Jefferson's landmark statute became the basis for Congressman Fisher Ames' Establishment Clause of the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution. 'Congress shall make no law respecting the establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof.' The statute guarantees a fundamental freedom to openly practice one's faith without fear of being harassed, jailed, or killed. Additionally, under the statute, each person may freely change their religion without retribution. In the United States, people of different faiths have equal rights to practice their religion. Around the world religious restrictions continue to rise. According to Pew Research, legislation, attitudes, and policies are rising globally in the last decade. Even those countries usually considered restrictive are increasing their limitations. When looking at countries with the most equality, they too show a change in policies and attitudes towards religious freedom. Religious freedom is a global concern, not only a national one. This annual celebration reminds us of the first and most fundamental liberty we have as Americans, the freedom to live out our faith. For people of faith in America, millions will attend a service at their house of worship this weekend. But even though we enjoy this freedom, millions around the world are persecuted and even forced underground for their beliefs. They cannot live out their faith freely and peacefully. That's why we set aside this day to reflect our religious liberty and acknowledge that this indeed is a freedom worth fighting for. Why is celebrating religious freedom so important for our society today? Here's three key reasons. First, religious liberty is a building block of a free society. America's founders listed it as the first freedom in the first clause of the First Amendment. Why? Because without freedom to worship and live out our faith, all other liberties, civil, economic, and social, come crumbling down. Second, the religious freedom helps drive forward progress and improvement. This is evident in the religious individuals and institutions who are vital to supporting our most vulnerable in our communities. And finally, religious liberty is the most common denominator that brings all Americans together, especially in this polarizing time in our nation. Religious freedom reminds us that we have in common, rather than what divides us. It puts in perspective how blessed we are to have a Constitution, a document that expressly protects our right to live in accordance with our beliefs and convictions. National Religious Freedom Day is a call to action. When you and millions of other Americans can live out your faith that you not only have the Constitutional right to do so, but you have the first liberty, the nation's leading religious liberty law firm in your corner. Thank you, Ladies and Gentlemen."

STATE OF ILLINOIS

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Speaker Hoffman: "Representative McLaughlin."

McLaughlin: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Happy new year. Good to see you again."

Speaker Hoffman: "Happy new year."

McLaughlin: "I rise... a point of personal privilege."

Speaker Hoffman: "State your point."

McLaughlin: "Members of the Body, I rise to acknowledge a humanitarian crisis that has been self-inflicted on the State of Illinois and the City of Chicago, and that has to do with the illegal migrant surge. I understand that this Body passed something called the TRUST Act in 2017, which doesn't allow the identification of those that are in our country illegally. The objective of this, I understand, was to take care of the world's population. I stood up in May and stated, although we may want to do that, we don't have the resources to do that. I understand we just sent $680 million additional money to take care of the illegal migrants. My question to this Body as we go into budget season is, what's the number? What is the number that we will support and represent? What is the number that the citizens of our state want us to represent? I've seen on the news many of the neighborhoods in Chicago, residents that are wondering where are the assets and the money for the services that they need. And I can't help but sit out there in the suburbs and think, when is it going to come to our neighborhoods? Well, two weeks ago, there was a train of migrants that were dropped off in Fox River Grove in the 52nd District. The community is woefully unprepared financially and social service-wise to take care of them. I've also spoken to a number of food banks in my community. Not just over the last year, but over the last three years, they have been inundated with nonresident applications for food, going to a point where they are in need. Most nonprofits are being inundated. My question to this Body is, to virtue signal and believe we can take care of the world's population is wonderful, it's a great political statement, but the assets required to do it will go through a budget process. NBC News discovered that $200 thousand per housekeeper was being spent on the migrants and 312 thousand for security guards. My friends, this needs to stop. My question is, when will we get cold feet and stop spending money that our citizens don't expect us to? There are plenty of cold feet already in the ridiculous tents on the South Side and the center of Chicago, and it needs to stop. This is a humanitarian crisis. We should know better. And I ask the Body to address this before we get to a budget session and $2 billion gets pulled out of multiple programs and handed off to illegal migrants. And I hope you join me in this. Thank you."
