WHEREAS, Illinois rivers have been a vital part of the State's history since statehood, including the life of the 16th President Abraham Lincoln, the story of the Underground Railroad up to and during the Civil War, and part of the development story of the City of Chicago; and

WHEREAS, Rivers throughout Illinois are premier natural resources, providing water for agriculture, wildlife, recreation, and residential and industrial uses; and

WHEREAS, Agriculture, water recreation, and water-related tourism are key economic drivers in the State, and the values and services associated with watersheds such as clean water and energy are critical to the State's overall economic health; and

WHEREAS, Tons of trash, junk, and debris are annually dumped into Illinois Rivers along its banks, negatively impacting riparian wildlife, damaging both the aesthetic and biological qualities of a river; and

WHEREAS, Various state legislatures have encouraged waterway clean-up activities by designating September as River Clean Up Month; and
