2 and effective Latino civil rights group of its day; and

3 WHEREAS, On March 31, 1962, his 35th birthday, Cesar
4 Chavez resigned from CSO, choosing instead to move his wife
5 and eight small children to Delano, California and to dedicate
6 himself fully to organizing farm workers; the first convention
7 of Cesar's National Farm Workers Association (NFWA) convened 8 in Fresno, California on September 30, 1962; and

9 WHEREAS, The 1960s presented a prime opportunity for Cesar 10 Chavez and his new organization to advocate for the rights of 11 migrant workers; having worked on building the membership of 12 his infant union during the early 1960s, the NFWA, with 13 1,200-member families, voted on September 16, 1965 to join an 14 ongoing strike against Delano-area grape growers started by 15 the mostly Filipino American members of the Agricultural 16 Workers Organizing Committee, AFL-CIO (AWOC), beginning the 17 famous five-year Delano Grape Strike; during March and April 18 of 1966, he and a band of strikers embarked upon a 340-mile 19 Peregrinacion (Pilgrimage) from Delano to the steps of the 20 California state capitol in Sacramento to draw national 21 attention to the suffering of farm workers; as a result of the 22 march and a four-month boycott, Schenley Vineyards negotiated
23 an agreement with NFWA, the first genuine union contract
24 between a grower and farm workers' union in United States

1 history; and

2 WHEREAS, Cesar Chavez's success with the NFWA continued
3 throughout the late 1960s, with a successful boycott at the 4 DiGiorgio Fruit Corporation and a strike at the Giumarra
5 Vineyards Corporation; in 1966, the NFWA and the Filipino 6 American AWOC merged to form the United Farm Workers, which 7 affiliated with the AFL-CIO; in 1968, Cesar fasted for 25 days
8 to rededicate his movement to nonviolence; United States
9 Senator Robert F. Kennedy joined over 8,000 farm workers and 10 supporters at a mass where Cesar broke his fast, calling the 11 weakened farm labor leader "one of the heroic figures of our 12 time"; and

13 WHEREAS, Cesar Chavez's movement continued apace during 14 the 1970s, with most California table grape growers signing
15 UFW contracts by 1970; after Salinas Valley growers signed 16 contracts with the Teamsters Union in the summer of 1970, he 17 led a national boycott of lettuce, a decision that led to a 18 jail sentence in Salinas, California from December 10 to 24 of 19 1970; still going strong, the UFW became chartered as an 20 independent affiliate by the AFL-CIO in 1972, becoming the 21 United Farm Workers of America, AFL-CIO (UFW); and

22 WHEREAS, After a hard-fought battle with the California
23 state government and various growers, Cesar Chavez and the UFW

1 managed to pass the landmark Agricultural Labor Relations Act
2 in June of 1975, which guaranteed California farm workers the 3 right to organize and bargain with their employers; under his 4 leadership, the United Farm Workers of America won hundreds of 5 labor elections across the nation during 1975 and 1976; and

7 contracts grew to about 45,000 by the early 1980s; Republican

9 $1 million in grower campaign contributions; under Governor

11 Relations Board ceased enforcement of the Agricultural Labor
12 Relations Act, forcing Cesar Chavez to declare a third grape 13 boycott in 1984; and

14 WHEREAS, In 1986, 61-year old Cesar Chavez kicked off the 15 "Wrath of Grapes" campaign to draw public attention to the 16 pesticide poisoning of grape workers and their children; the 17 campaign included a 36 day public fast in Delano, California, 18 his last and longest-running; and

19 WHEREAS, In 1992, Cesar Chavez, working with UFW First 20 Vice President Arturo Rodriguez, led vineyard walkouts in the 21 Coachella and San Joaquin valleys, resulting in the first 22 industry-wide pay hike in eight years for grape workers; this 23 feat proved to be the last for this brave pioneer, who passed

1 away in his sleep on April 23, 1993 in the midst of defending
2 the UFW against a multi-million dollar lawsuit brought against 3 the union; and

4 WHEREAS, On August 8, 1994, President Bill Clinton
5 posthumously awarded the Medal of Freedom, America's highest 6 civilian honor, to Cesar Chavez in honor of his everlasting

9 of its many union members; the union remains strong, with 10 undeniable strength in numerous states such as California,
11 Florida, and Washington, a fact that would certainly make 12 Cesar Chavez proud; therefore, be it

13 RESOLVED, BY THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE ONE
14 HUNDRED THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS, that 15 we honor the life and legacy of Cesar Chavez and his 16 contributions to the downtrodden of our society; and be it
17 further

18 RESOLVED, That a suitable copy of this resolution be 19 presented to the family of Cesar Chavez as a symbol of our
